

With the guidance of the LGd team learn what many of the world's most successful firms already know...

Professional project management is no longer a “nice-to-have.”

For many firms it is now a... *legal requirement.

- ▲ Do these requirements affect your firm?
- ▲ Is your organization ready?
- ▲ How can you tell?

We can Help!

Project Management is much more than a software package. Project management relies on professional standards, advanced tools and real-world industry experience to ensure success. Few firms have the ability to bring all these components together as an integrated solution. LOOKING GLASS DEVELOPMENT is a Microsoft Partner and Project Management Institute Global Registered Education Provider specializing in providing complete project management solutions for organizations of all sizes. LGd is also affiliated with the University of Denver. This relationship allows participants in our training to receive academic credit towards a certificate, bachelors, or masters degree with DU.

- ▲ LOOKING GLASS DEVELOPMENT uses the only internationally accepted project management assessment tool to ensure your custom solution truly meets your needs.
- ▲ Our focus on an integrated “solution” for project management allows us to offer unparalleled service to our customers ensuring they meet their project objectives.
- ▲ We have worked with organizations of all sizes to develop customized methodologies, which are in full compliance with the internationally accepted ANSI and IEEE standards for professional project management.
- ▲ Looking Glass Development makes extensive use of the internationally accepted standard for measuring organizational project management maturity to develop and deploy the right solution the first time.
- ▲ We take the methodology and deploy the latest project management tools, to deploy a solution specific to the needs of the organization. To enable maximum efficiency LGd can provide a complete hosted solution to meet our customers’ needs.
- ▲ Finally, we support our customers by providing the latest in project management training to ensure their team has the knowledge to be successful.
